

Due to tropical storm Irene and the October snowstorm Alfred we have already missed six days of school. We made one day up on Election Day by canceling Professional Development.

Please note that Tuesday, February 21, 2012 has now been added as an instructional day for students.

The four remaining days have been added to the June calendar currently making the last day of school June 20, 2012. We will continue to add days to June as needed.
